

Multiply

UNDERSTANDING DIMENSIONS

L x W x H represents the three dimensions of an object: Length (L), Width (W), and Height (H). Length-width measurements describe the flat area of a product or box, while height is the vertical measurement. When measuring a box's dimensions (LxW), the larger of the two dimensions is labeled length, while the short dimension is labeled width.

